Seawork own several quality High Definition underwater video systems and all of our diving systems are wired and cabled so that video can be utilised.

All the systems are interchangeable so spares and replacement units are instantly available. The cameras and lights are made to be helmet mounted on the diver.

Seawork also own 2 ROV's. They are VideoRay systems that are used in confined spaces and restricted access areas or where a pre survey would be beneficial prior to diver entry.

Seawork Marine has a vast inventory of diving and support equipment, tested and certificated on the shelf ready to be mobilised worldwide.

This ethos provides Clients with reassurance that delays due to lack of or poor equipment or lack of maintenance are not an issue.
